GENERAL FEEDING GUIDE:

Ponies- 1.5g to 3g added to food, or as directed by your veterinarian.

Horses: 4g to 7.5g added to food, or as directed by your veterinarian.

According to the National Research Council (2009), an average 450-500kg horse can conservatively consume 7.5 grams of garlic per day. In these amounts, studies have shown garlic supplementation was unlikely to result in horses developing anaemia, even if they consume garlic long term.

Fresh clean drinking water should always be available.

Crooked Lane Harvest products are a range of nutritional supplements for inclusion in animal feed. Listed amounts are a guide only and have been prepared in consultation with a veterinarian with over 40 years of experience in animal health and nutrition and product development. For specific health concerns, always seek advice from a veterinarian or health care professional.
